Year End Tax Planning Simplified

Tax planning has never been easy, but it also has never been more important for two reasons:

1. The uptick in the economy may result in greater income for you in the New Year. This means you may have more income that's subject to tax, and therefore a greater need to take steps to minimize your tax exposure.
2. Recent changes in tax laws will mean higher tax rates and expanded Medicare taxes for many higher-income taxpayers. With this, you will need to take advantage of every tax-reduction strategy available.

To help readily answer your tax questions, we have added a new feature to our website in efforts to have tax planning tips ready for you, constantly and all of the time.

Our new Online Tax Guide is created to answer the many questions you may have concerning basic tax planning, real estate, investing, business, retirement and more. This guide will be updated regularly. To access this ready-made guide, please go to www.rbtcpa.com and on the right-hand side you will see the link for our Online Tax Guide.
